DISCLAIMER

Students and prospective students should not rely on the current NHS bursary rules and allowances when planning for subsequent academic years as these may be subject to review in the future and as a result may be liable to change.

The Welsh Government and Student Awards Services will accept no responsibility for loss of any type however suffered by students who have relied on current rules and allowances in altering their circumstances (including but not limited to financial circumstances), whether for the current academic year, academic year to begin or indeed for subsequent academic years.
1. INTRODUCTION

If you are considering a professional career in health care and would like to know more about the financial support you will get during your training, then this booklet is for you.

It provides information and guidance for students who start an NHS funded health professional course from 1 September 2016 onwards. This booklet is for guidance only, it cannot cover all individual circumstances, and you may need to get more details from the institution where you plan to study.

The NHS funding package differs from the support available to non-NHS students who are supported through the student loan arrangements. It is therefore important that students considering health care professional training refer to this booklet, and not student loan publications, with the exception of medical and dental students who should refer to student loan information in the earlier part of their training.

To qualify for NHS financial support, you must be accepted for an NHS funded place on a full or part-time course which leads to professional registration as a:

- chiropodist (including podiatrist), dietitian, occupational therapist, physiotherapist, radiographer, healthcare scientist, paramedic, speech and language therapist\(^1\)
- dental hygienist or dental therapist\(^2\)
- nurse or midwife
• doctor or dentist (you will be eligible for an NHS Bursary during the later stages of your pre-registration training) and the physician associate course.

If your course leads to a professional registration in one of these professions and your place is funded by the NHS, you may be eligible for NHS funding even if you have already had public funding for higher education. If you have previously had NHS funding and wish to switch professions, you may be eligible.

NHS funding is not intended for first level nurses and midwives seeking a second registration in nursing or midwifery, or for registered health care professionals wishing to undertake post registration training courses.

For example, if you are a state registered adult nurse seeking to complete a branch program in mental health nursing you would not be entitled to NHS funding, but you could approach your employer to see if they are prepared to fund the training.

You can get NHS funding for a course starting at any time which leads to conversion from a second (EN) to a first level nurse, provided that you have not worked as a nurse for a year or more.

This booklet is about the support you can get if you attend a nursing, midwifery, dental auxiliary or Allied Health Professional course, in Wales, regardless of where you live in the UK. If you attend a course in England, Scotland or Northern Ireland,

1 These professions are widely known as the AHPs, which is an abbreviation for Allied Health Professions. They were formerly known as Professions Allied to Medicine (PAMs)
2 These professions are part of the Dental Care Professionals formerly known as Professions Complementary to Dentistry
broadly comparable arrangements will apply, but you will need to consult the relevant national authorities (see Section 5) for details.

Welsh domiciled medical and dental students are supported through the NHS Bursary Scheme during the later stages of their training irrespective of which home country their medical school is situated in. Medical and dental students domiciled in England, Scotland or Northern Ireland need to consult the relevant national authorities (see Section 5).

Personal Eligibility

Your personal eligibility depends on what course you are undertaking and where you live.

You will not be eligible for NHS funding if you are an assisted (seconded) student. This means that your total income in any year from scholarships and employment (minus income tax and national insurance contributions) exceeds the maximum bursary that would otherwise be payable.

The Residence Conditions

These notes explain the main eligibility conditions all students need to meet in order to receive NHS funding.

To be eligible for NHS support all students, regardless of nationality, must be able to satisfy all of the following three requirements on the first day of the first academic year of the course:

1. Applicants must have been ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom and Islands throughout the three years preceding the above date, and;

2. be ordinarily resident in any UK country on the above date and;

3. be settled in the United Kingdom under the terms of the Immigration Act 1971. (In other words, you must be ordinarily resident here without being subject to any restriction on the period for which you may stay).

Ordinary Residence

‘Ordinary Residence’ is defined as habitual and normal residence from choice and for a settled purpose throughout the prescribed period, apart from temporary or occasional absences.

Exceptions

If you do not meet the rules for residence in the UK, and your course is an NHS funded course, you may still be eligible for NHS funding. This may apply if you, your spouse, civil partner or your parents are:

- Recognised by the British Government as a refugee and you (or your spouse, civil partner or parent) have remained ordinarily resident in the UK since this status was granted.

3 This is the period of 12 months starting as follows – 1 September for courses starting between 1 September and 31 December; 1 January for courses starting between 1 January and 31 March; 1 April for courses starting between 1 April and 30 June and 1 July for courses starting between 1 July and 31 August.
• An EEA National, (but not a UK or Swiss national), who has ‘migrant worker’ status and has been ordinarily resident in the EEA or Switzerland for three years before the first day of the first academic year of your course and is ordinarily resident in the UK on the first day of the first academic year of the course.

• Non UK EU Nationals and their children who satisfy the three-year residence criterion in the UK and Islands will be treated as if they were UK students. They are not required to have settled status. If their residence in the UK was mainly for the purpose of full-time higher education, they may still be eligible for an NHS funding if they can show that they were ordinarily resident in an EEA country or Switzerland immediately prior to their period of ordinary residence in the UK.

• Someone who has settled in the UK by virtue of having acquired the right to permanent residence or granted Humanitarian Protection by the Home Office. You must meet the three-year residence criterion in the UK and Islands.

• EU students who do not have EEA migrant worker status and who are not ordinarily resident in the UK under the terms described, may be awarded an “EU Fees Only” award, under which they will have the cost of their tuition fees met but they will not be eligible for a student loan, hardship funds or the NHS grant or maintenance element of the NHS Bursary.
Asylum Seekers

If you are an asylum seeker in the UK, you will not be eligible for NHS student support.

Refugees

If the Home Office has granted you refugee status, you will be eligible for NHS support providing you are ordinarily resident in the UK on the first day of the first academic year of your course and have had continuous residence since first being granted this status.

Limited Leave to Enter or Remain as a Student

If you are currently in the UK on a student visa, you will not be eligible for NHS funding as you will not have the necessary immigration status.

Students from the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man

You will not normally be eligible for an NHS funding if you are ordinarily resident in one of the British Islands, e.g. the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man, and you intend to study in the UK.

Temporary employment outside the UK

If you were away from this country because you or your family were temporarily employed abroad, you may be treated as if your residence in the UK had not been interrupted, but you will be required to provide evidence that the absence was temporary when you make an application for NHS funding.
Armed forces and family members

Members of the regular armed forces serving abroad and members of their close families are treated as living in the UK. If you were away from this country during all or part of the three-year period because you or one of your parents, spouse or civil partner were serving abroad as an active member of the regular armed forces (the army, navy or air force) you, your parent, spouse or civil partner will be treated as having been temporarily employed overseas during that period. This will not prevent you from being eligible for NHS funding.

Prospective Students

If you are thinking of taking any of the health professional courses listed in Section 1 and you are not sure whether you are eligible for NHS funding, contact the university you are hoping to go to. They should be able to help you in the first instance.
2. GENERAL INFORMATION

2.1 The package of support available from September 2016 will provide new students with:-

- a non-means tested NHS grant of £1000
- a means tested NHS bursary
- a non-means tested loan (see paragraph 3.2.2)

The support provided is to cover your day to day living costs whilst you are studying. You will receive the total amount awarded as Income Tax and National Insurance contributions are not deducted. Students receive NHS support in each year of their training, normally paid monthly.

In addition, other allowances are available (see paragraph 3.2.3) including:

- Extra Weeks’ Allowance
- Dependents’ Allowance
- Childcare Allowance
- Parent Learning Allowance
- Disabled Students’ Allowance
- Practice Placement Costs

2.2 Students who find themselves in exceptional financial difficulty may be able to get extra help - see paragraph 3.2.4 for more information.

2.3 The means tested bursary and non-means tested grant are available for all NHS courses listed in Section 1. Your income, and that of your parent(s), your spouse, civil partner or partner may be taken into account, and the amount of Means tested bursary will be reduced in proportion to that income.

Various sources of income - including, for example, your casual earnings while you are a full-time student - are ignored in whole or in part. Contributions by parents, spouse, civil partner or partner is calculated on the level of residual income (normally in the tax year before the start of your academic year*) following tax deductible allowances.

If your parent(s), spouse, civil partner or partner do not complete the necessary forms, you cannot receive any NHS funding.

If you are independent of your parents, no parental contribution will be assessed, but a spouse, civil partner or partner's contribution may still be applicable. Dependant’s allowance is means tested for all students.

Student Awards Services will assess the amount of NHS funding you will receive.

2.4 The non-means tested grant is available for all courses. No reference is made to the income of your parent(s), your spouse, civil partner or partner*. It is not payable to all students, eg EU students.

4 Partner means a person you live with as if you are married, or in a civil partnership.
* Academic years are regarded as the period of 12 months starting on 1 September, 1 January, 1 April or 1 July depending on when your course starts.
2.5 Independent Students

A student is deemed to be independent of their parents if they meet any one of the criteria in the following list:

- You have care of a dependent child or children on the first day of the academic year in which you are applying for a bursary.
- You have been married or have entered into a civil partnership before the start of the academic year for which you are applying for a bursary.
- You have no living parents.
- You have supported yourself from your own earnings for a total of at least 36 months before the start of the first academic year of your course. This includes:

  Periods of employment (either part or full time),

  Periods where you were unemployed and/or in receipt of benefits or on a relevant training course for unemployed people,

  Periods for which you were receiving a pension, allowance or other benefit paid because of a disability or by reason of confinement, injury or sickness,

  Periods for which you were in receipt of moneys resulting from a state studentship (e.g. because you were undertaking a PhD or other research degree).
Please note that we will disregard any moneys you received from a student loan or other student funding, as this cannot be classed as income from your own earnings.

- Your parents live abroad and an assessment would put them in danger (this may apply if you are a refugee for example).
- You are in the care of a local authority or voluntary organisation, or are under a custodianship order on your 18th birthday or immediately before your course if you are not 18 when it begins.

The fact that a student does not live with their parents or that their parents do not support them financially are not in themselves grounds for a student to be considered as independent.

If none of the above criteria apply to you, you will be classed as a dependent student and your bursary will be assessed against the income of your parent(s).

2.6 Change of Circumstances

It is your responsibility to tell Student Awards Services of any change in your or your family's financial circumstances, so that if necessary your Bursary can be reassessed. You must also tell the institution and Student Awards Services if you have to terminate or interrupt your studies before the normal completion date.

If you abandon or suspend your studies your Bursary award will be recalculated based on the actual number of days in attendance and you will be required to repay any monies received that exceeds your actual entitlement.
3. THE MEANS TESTED BURSARY

3.1 Arrangements for Medical and Dental Students

Providing you satisfy the residence criteria, medical and dental students may be eligible for NHS funded support. To check your eligibility please read the notes in Section 1.

3.1.1 Pre-registration medical and dental students attending the accelerated four-year graduate entry programme will be eligible for NHS funding for years 2–4 of their course. Medical and dental students undertaking 5-6 year undergraduate courses will be eligible for NHS funding for their fifth and subsequent years of study. (If you are domiciled in England, Scotland or Northern Ireland you will need to consult the relevant national authorities (See section 5).

3.1.2 Intercalation

Intercalation is taken into account for funding purposes. Students who intercalate will be eligible for funding from the 5th year of their period of study, irrespective of which year they intercalate.

3.1.3 Accelerated and Shortened Courses

Graduates who are on shortened courses, other than the 4 year graduate entry programme will follow the same funding arrangements as for students undertaking the 5-6 year undergraduate course.

3.2 Arrangements for students on AHPs, DCP and nursing and midwifery courses

You must ensure that your institution has offered you an NHS funded place on one of the courses listed in Section 1 and that you satisfy the residence criteria. To check your eligibility please read Section 1.

3.2.1 Rates of NHS funding

The non-means tested grant is a fixed amount.

<table>

The means tested Bursary is made up of an allowance to cover day to day living costs, and, depending on individual circumstances, additional allowances. These are explained in detail below.

Student Loans

3.2.2 You may be entitled to a reduced rate student loan to cover the balance of your living costs. NHS funding is not intended to meet all your maintenance requirements, so you are encouraged to consider carefully whether you will need a reduced rate loan to avoid hardship during your course.
You should apply to Student Finance Wales (SFW) for a reduced rate loan before the course starts. The SFW will tell the Student Loans Company the maximum loan to which you are entitled. You can then decide how much of the available loan, if any, you want. SFW will be happy to give you more detailed advice.

3.2.3 Allowances

These are extra payments which may be paid in addition to the non means tested grant and any means tested bursary you may be entitled to. You may be eligible for payment as follows:

Extra Weeks' Attendance

If your course runs for more than 30 weeks and 3 days in the academic year (excluding vacation periods), you may also be entitled to the Extra Weeks Allowance, as illustrated below:

<table>
<thead>

</tbody>

If you have to attend the course for more than 45 weeks in the academic year (excluding vacation periods), you will get an allowance for all 52 weeks of the academic year.
Dependants' Allowances

These are payable to you for people who are wholly or mainly financially dependent on you during your time in training. Your spouse or civil partner, your children and other adults can be counted. The income of all your dependants, your spouse, civil partner or your partner, net of allowable deductions, is taken into account in deciding if you are eligible for the allowance.

The following table shows the current rates.

</tbody>

Childcare Allowance

This allowance is available to students with dependent children aged 14 or under, or aged 16 and under for children with special educational needs, on the first day of the academic year. As this allowance is subject to means-testing, the level of support you receive will be dependent upon your individual circumstances.

The childcare must be provided by a 'registered' or 'approved' childcare provider. The allowance pays up to 85% of your actual childcare costs to a maximum weekly amount.
Parent Learning Allowance

This allowance, currently £1204 over 52 weeks, may be payable if you are a student who has a dependent child or children. The income of all your dependants, your spouse, civil partner or your partner, net of allowable deductions, is taken into account in deciding if you are eligible for the allowance.

Practice Placement Costs

If you have to undertake practice placements as part of your NHS course you may be entitled to be reimbursed for some of the costs you incur through attending the placements. This can include reimbursement of both travel and accommodation costs if they are in excess of your normal daily travel costs to get to your usual university base/teaching site. You may claim if you have been awarded a full NHS bursary as long as you are not:

- An EU Assessed Fees only award student
- A seconded student

You should use the cheapest form of transport available for your journeys, taking full advantage of any free and concessionary schemes. If you choose to use your own vehicle, you should claim public transport fares if these are lower. If public transport is unavailable or unsuitable for placement travel, you may use your own motor vehicle but you must get authority in advance of your placement, from the institution to do so.
You will also need to get confirmation from your insurers that you have adequate cover for all costs and claims and that no liability is placed on the institution or any NHS body, and notify the institution accordingly.

If you incur additional residential accommodation costs while attending a clinical placement, by way of retaining the accommodation you use at your college; and paying for the accommodation you use while on clinical placement, you may claim the costs reasonably incurred instead of the costs of daily travel between the institution and placement accommodation. You may also claim the cost of up to one weekly return journey between the institution and placement address.

Reimbursement for practice placements, undertaken anywhere outside of the UK are not allowable, neither are the costs of airfares and taxis.

Your University will advise you on how to claim your practice placement costs.
Disabled Students' Allowances

It is important to let your college know immediately if you have a disability, and need extra help or equipment to complete your course. Early notification is recommended, as the processing of claims can take some time. You will be asked to provide evidence of the nature and severity of your disability and to produce evidence of a recent assessment. If your disability has not recently been assessed, an assessment should be undertaken by a suitably qualified person. You are expected to meet the costs of establishing a claim for disability, but any costs associated with identifying your course-related needs will be met on your behalf. This information will be treated as confidential. No contribution will be required from your income or your family's towards this allowance.

This allowance is intended to cover the extra costs you incur while training as a result of a disability. It is not intended to pay the disability related costs that you would have incurred in any case.

There are four elements to cover different areas of need:

1. The non-medical helper's allowance - to help you pay for helpers, such as sign language interpreters or note-takers;

2. The specialist equipment allowance - for major items of specialist equipment, eg a computer;

3. The travel allowance - for travel costs reasonably and necessarily incurred due to your disability;
4. The other costs allowance - to cover any costs related to your disability and study eg Braille paper or books and tapes, that are not covered by the other allowances. It can also be used to top up the other allowances. The following table shows the current rates.

Maternity, Paternity and Adoption leave arrangements for NHS Students

Students taking authorised absence from training for reasons of pregnancy and childbirth, or if they are formally adopting a child or children may continue to receive their existing NHS bursary payments. These payments will normally be made for up to a maximum of 52 weeks, depending on individual circumstances.

In addition, NHS students who are nominated carers and/or partners will be able to continue to receive their NHS Bursary for up to four weeks whilst taking an authorised period of maternity support leave.
OTHER HELP

Hardship Funds

3.2.4 If, having taken up your full entitlement to a Bursary and loan, you find you are still in financial difficulty, you can apply to the institution, or to your students' union, for information on help in the form of hardship funds.

Council Tax and Benefits

3.2.5 Full-time students are either exempt from Council Tax or are entitled to discounts. In exceptional circumstances, you may be eligible for other state benefits. You should seek advice about this from your local authority or Jobcentre Plus.

Child Tax Credit

3.2.6 This is available for all families with children, including students. NHS Students with dependent children may also be entitled to receive Dependents’ Allowance through the NHS Bursary Scheme, in addition to the Child Tax Credit.

How do I apply for a Bursary?

3.2.7 When you have been offered an NHS funded place, you should submit an application for NHS Wales Bursary via the website www.nwsspstudentfinance.wales.nhs.uk. You will be required to register an account after which you will be able to submit your personal details which will be used to calculate your entitlement. As part of the application process you will be required to provide original documents to support the information you submit during the application process. Once this process has been completed you will receive a notification of award which will outline your entitlement.
How do I receive payment of my Bursary?

3.2.8 The payment of bursary will be made directly to you each month by the institution. The institution will be able to give you more detail about the timing and method of payment.

Residual Income

3.2.9 This is the amount of declared income used to determine the contribution (if any) to your award. To calculate this, the parent(s)/step-parent/spouse/civil partner/partner’s gross taxable income for the previous financial year is used. (For the 2016/17 academic year, the applicable financial year will be the period running from 6 April 2015 to 5 April 2016). Certain allowable expenses are then deducted from this to give the 'residual income':
Income and Expenditure used to determine Residual Income and Contributions

Types of Taxable Income used:

- Gross Salary / wages
- Taxable Allowances (e.g. company car, essential car users allowance, fuel allowance, private health care)
- Income from Self Employment or Company directorship
- Income from Land, Property or Furnished Lettings
- Pensions (including State retirement, occupational, private and widow(er)s pensions)
- Bank or Building Society Interest
- Other unearned income (such as dividends)
- Taxable Benefits (Job Seekers Allowance, Income support, Incapacity Benefit, Bereavement Allowance etc.)

Deductible Expenses used to offset against declared income

- Employee Pension Contributions
- Personal Pension / Retirement Annuity payments
- Professional subscriptions and other tax relievable expenses
Contribution Rates

3.2.10 The table below can be used to give you an idea as to how much your parent(s) or spouse/partner/civil partner will be expected to contribute to your bursary, based on their residual income. You should note that a ‘contribution’ is NOT a direct payment that your spouse/partner/civil partner/partner will be required to make – instead, this is the amount that will be deducted from your basic NHS Bursary entitlement at source.

If the amount shown in the "contribution" column is more than the relevant maximum bursary entitlement would be, the actual amount of the means-tested bursary you will receive will be £0.00 – although the tuition fee contribution will still be met on your behalf, and you will still receive the £1,000 grant.
4. YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Q1 What happens if my circumstances change?

A1 You should report any change in your financial circumstances (or your family's, where a parental, spouse, civil partner or partner contribution applies) to Student Awards Service (SAS) as soon as it occurs. Your funding will be reassessed to take account of any impact on your requirements, for example, your spouse leaving the family home, the birth of a child, or the death of a dependant. It is also your responsibility to tell the SAS or the institution if you have to leave or interrupt your course before the normal completion date.

Q2 Am I entitled to unsocial hours and extra duty payments?

A2 No. Your status will be that of a student, not an employee. But you may be eligible for help with practice placement expenses.
Q3  Will I be eligible for NHS funding if I have already had public funding for higher education?

A3  Yes. If your course leads to a professional qualification and your place is funded by the NHS you will be able to get NHS funding. If you have previously had NHS funding and wish to switch professions, you will be eligible - but NHS funding is not intended for first level nurses and midwives seeking a second registration in nursing or midwifery, or for post registration training. You can get NHS funding for a course starting at any time which leads to conversion from a second (EN) to a first level nurse, if you have not worked as a nurse for a year or more.

Q4  Will I still be eligible for NHS funding if I fail my exams and have to undertake a period of repeat study?

A4  No. Funding is not normally available for periods of repeat study unless there are extenuating circumstances, such as the death of a family member.

Q5  How do NHS funding arrangements affect students on medical and dental courses?

A5  For the first four years, support for Welsh domiciled students on undergraduate medical and dental courses will be on the same basis as for other higher education students. In year 5 and beyond, students will not have to pay tuition fee contributions, and NHS funding assessed against the income of the student and their family, will be available towards maintenance. Students receiving NHS funding will have access to reduced rate student loans.

For Welsh domiciled students on an accelerated four year graduate entry medical or dental degree programme, means tested funding and help with tuition fees are available for years two to four of the course. From year two, the NHS will pay part of the tuition fee element and a tuition fee loan is available to pay the remainder.

Q6 What if I live in Wales and want to attend a medical or dental course in Scotland, England or Northern Ireland?

A6 The arrangements described in Q5 will apply to you, regardless of where you study in the UK. Student Awards Services will assess your Bursary.

Q7 What if I live in Wales and want to attend a nursing, midwifery or AHPs course in Scotland, England or Northern Ireland?

A7 You will need to consult the relevant national authorities (see section 5) for details.

Q8 What if I live in Scotland, England or Northern Ireland and want to attend a nursing, midwifery or AHPs course in Wales?

A8 The arrangements described in this booklet will apply to you, regardless of where you live in the UK.
Q9 Where do I find further information about funding for medical and dental courses?

A9 You should contact the University of your choice.

Q10 Am I obliged to work in the NHS when I qualify?

A10 No. You will be encouraged and supported to develop at least some of your career in the NHS or in the social care services, but the decision is yours.

Q11 If I intercalate during my medical/dental course does this count?

A11 Yes, intercalated years are counted, irrespective of when they occur during the course. For example, if you intercalate in year 3 of your course then you will be eligible for NHS funding from your 5th year of study (year 4 of the course).

Q12 What if the place I am offered is not NHS funded?

A12 For courses, other than medical or dental ones, student intakes are planned and agreed between the NHS and institution to reflect future workforce needs. So this will only happen where admissions exceed planned requirements. In that event, you will not be eligible for an NHS Bursary. But that will not affect any entitlement you may have to the support available to other higher education students.

Q13 Is there any help with childcare costs?

A13 Yes. See Section 3 for more details.
Q14 How do I apply for the Child Care Allowance?

A14 Application forms are available from your institution or Student Awards Services.

Q15 Will I be eligible to apply for the Child Care Allowance if I am a fees only student?

A15 No, if you are a fees only award student you are not eligible for this allowance.

Q16 Can I receive the Child Care Allowance as well as the childcare element of the Working Tax Credit (WTC) from HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC)?

A16 No. If you, your spouse, civil partner or partner receive the childcare element of the WTC for a child you will not be eligible for the Child Care Allowance element of your NHS Bursary.

Q17 Am I eligible to apply for the Child Care Allowance to help with the costs of informal childcare arrangements?

A17 No. The childcare must be provided by a registered or approved childcare provider.

These are just some of the questions you may be wishing to ask. If you have a question that hasn't been answered here you should contact your college in the first instance.
